MEMORANDUM FOR: [REDACTED]

SUBJECT : Chiefs of Station Seminar
[REDACTED]

25X1A

1. The final Chiefs of Station Seminar will be held the week of [REDACTED]. This is a compact one-week course designed to provide outgoing managers with the latest guidance deemed useful to them in their overseas assignments.

2. Mr. Bush addressed a similar and larger group on [REDACTED] in his conference room and for his informal and forthright remarks received the highest ratings of any speaker of the course.

3. This meeting, lasting 30 to 45 minutes, affords the opportunity (perhaps for the first time) for the Director to meet those individuals who will, in point of fact, be his personal representatives abroad. Last time he emphasized that if they should have any difficulties with an Ambassador he might be able through personal acquaintance or other relationships to iron out a problem before it grew. He further gave some advice on the handling of members of Congress and provided general words of encouragement in these days of rough seas.
